Madison reviewing its vacation policy

By JOE THOMPSON

MADISON — The city recently compensated two former employees in excess of $8,000 for unused vacation time. Mayor John Belkoff wants to reevaluate the policy before the coffers run dry.

Belkoff indicated the city stands to lose thousands of dollars if such policy is continued. Forewarned, aldermen Tuesday night authorized Belkoff and other city officials to find a solution.

"We need to sit down and see what we can do to resolve this," Belkoff said.

Officials say Michael Macek, former fire chief and alarm director, was paid $5,000 for unused vacation time. Former street employee Richard Niehaus Sr. received $3,200 for unused vacation time and compensatory time, officials said.

Macek's $27,000 position was abolished. Niehaus no longer is employed in the street department.

Belkoff informed the council two former city officials — Police Chief Donald Bridick and City Comptroller Judy Donaldson — have made similar compensatory requests.

Belkoff said he does not know how many employees the city may have to compensate in similar fashion or how much money might be involved.

During the meeting, however, Belkoff pointed out the city "rejoiced" when receiving $515,000 for the sale of its cable alarm system but, "if this (compensating former employees) continues, we won't have any $515,000 to do anything else on in the city."

Bridick has informed the city he did not take any vacation from 1977 through 1984 due to a shortage of manpower in the police department. Donaldson said she forestalled compensatory wages from Oct. 1, 1977, through Feb. 15, 1983, because of a lack of sufficient city funds.

City officials say Bridick's compensatory request amounts to $9,200. They did not have figures on the amount of Donaldson's compensatory claim.

In another matter, the city is a signature away from tearing down the Old Green Hall, "a landmark but a headache," city Building Inspector John Dutko told the council.

The building, labeled an "eyesore" by officials, is located at 801 Washington.

Dutko said the city needs approval from the Madison County Tax Office before it can demolish the structure. The office holds a lien on the property, as do five other parties who have already approved the city's request to tear down the building.

Dutko said the city has spent a year attempting to get signatures of approval. He said he expects to gain the final one within the week.

In other action, the council authorized a moment of silence for the death of former street city employee Clark Woolfolk. Belkoff praised Woolfolk as a fine person.

The council accepted, "with regrets," the resignation of Curtis King Sr. Belkoff said, "I thank Curtis for a job well done."

The city also agreed to pay resident Gary Novich $350 as a final settlement. Novich had filed suit against the city.

The city also approved several zoning requests, but denied one. The council's action was in agreement with recommendations by the zoning board. The city:

rezoned the property at 1521 Second St. to four family dwelling. The

No reason to fear car show, board told

Concern over the Car Craft Nationals, to be held late next month at St. Louis International Raceway, is much ado about nothing, according to a spokesman for the Granite City Police Department.

Capl. Glenn Wright spoke to the Granite City Park Board May 22 about an article which appeared in a St. Louis newspaper warning of possible problems associated with the car show, which is expected to bring 150,000 car enthusiasts to the area June 28-30.

The park board was concerned because the annual Fourth of July carnival in Wilson Park begins on Saturday, June 29.

"I don't think you will have that much of a problem," Wright said.

"There won't be anybody camping out in the park because you simply won't allow it," Wright emphasized his belief the majority of people coming to town aren't "troublemakers" for one reason.

"The people are car nuts," he said. "Their cars are their pride and joy. So there won't be any problems with reckless driving or anything like that. They won't want to make one scratch on those cars."

The show, which was held last year in Springfield, resulted in 1,000 arrests that weekend, but Wright said all but 18 of those were just minor traffic violations.

"We checked, and the average number of non-traffic arrests on a weekend in Springfield is 18," Wright said. "These people like the bright lights, they like to drink beer and they like to spin their wheels."

"About the only real problem there is they put bleach on their tires and give them a spin. It makes a lot of noise and causes some smoke, but

There are ways to revitalize Granite City's...

By SUSANNE INDELICATO

Part one of a series

Revitalization requires action, not dreams. For 10 years, efforts to improve Granite City's downtown have been discussed—and discussed—and today the discussion continues.

But there is a man with a plan for solving the dilemma of deteriorating business districts. The man, John Sower, is director of the National Development Council in Washington, D.C.

Sower's four-part plan deals with public improvements, design standards, financing and management. Though the value to Granite City's downtown may be argued, the plan could be applied.

"This first in a series of articles on downtown revitalization deals with views of the importance of a public improvement plan and a professional to implement it."

According to Sower, "Only city government has the necessary legal power to require cooperation in older business district revitalization by merchants and property owners.

If the districts fail, real estate revenues and other types of tax revenues to the city will suffer. Moreover, the overall appearance and economic climate of the area suffers due to the importance of the downtown or neighborhood business district as the center of its respective city."

Several persons expanded on the first part of Sower's four-part plan. Robert G. White, deputy director for economic development at the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission, offers advice on beginning a development program.

"Assess the market potential (of the area). You may build a beautiful downtown, but you must offer something," he said.

White said developers must ask themselves, "Why do people shop downtown? How many people work downtown?"

Other things to consider are the extent, location and character of the competing shopping centers; the social character of the downtown area, including appearance and crime rate; the availability and cost of downtown land; and civic and cultural programs downtown.

"Take a hard look, a non-nostalgic, non-sentimental look at your downtown," he recommended. "Look at the attitude. Are groups doing something; not just talking. Determine how willing your city government and downtown groups are to take steps to do something.

How effective could they be in managing, controlling tenant mix, designing and coordinating."

White said the Granite City area is fortunate in having an area university (SIUE) with marketing and business students who may assist downtown businesses with displays, advertising and business management.

Most of all, White said, potential developers need a plan and a professional to help form and implement the plan.

Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce Executive Vice President James Pennekamp said Granite City does not have a professional planner to aid in downtown redevelopment, but "There are moves in this direction. We do have a number of

Parking meter issue still ticking off some people

Downtown merchants have asked Granite City officials for help in one area of public improvement—parking meters.

Elmer Stille, owner of Tops 'N' Bottoms at 1343 19th St., said a survey of downtown retailers showed the majority of business owners favor removing the parking meters and enforcing designated parking times.

"Granite City Mayor-elect Von Dee Cruse agrees."

"I think the parking meters have got to go. I hear people say that one of their biggest concerns about downtown is the harassment of the parking meters," he said.

Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce Executive Vice President James Pennekamp added, "The bigger issue is parking. The parking meters are just a component of it."

plans, but one of the things that needs to happen is we need to review those plans."

Russell Walker, owner of Walkers Jewelry at 1257 19th St., believes, too, that professional guidance is needed, but possibly unaffordable.

"Those people are lots of money, and where we'd come up with the money, I don't know. It would take business funds, government funds and city funds," he said.

Elmer Stille, owner of Tops 'N' Bottoms Shop at 1343 19th St., agrees a professional is needed.

"There has to be a coordinated effort and there has to be professional help with it. We don't have the expertise and time available to do it ourselves," he said.

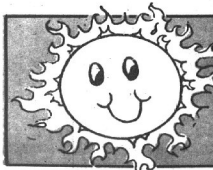

Next week: The importance of design standards.

State accidents dramatically up, department says

(Jack Anderson is off this week. The following commentary is by the Springfield, Ill., state capital staff of Copley News Service.)

In the past two years, the number of serious accidents in Illinois involving uninsured motorists has risen dramatically, increasing by nearly 15,000 over 1982. In fact, it is estimated by the state Department of Insurance that about 16 percent of automobile drivers on the road today have no insurance.

These are principal reasons why another push is on in the Illinois General Assembly to require that all licensed Illinois drivers of cars, small trucks and motorcycles carry liability insurance.

The major force behind the latest legislative effort is Secretary of State Jim Edgar, who saw a similar effort pass the House last year but get derailed in the Senate.

Edgar believes a mandatory insurance law would significantly reduce the number of uninsured drivers without proving too costly to enforce.

We agree that such a law is needed. Thousands of motorists are driving vehicles without any concern for their liability if they are involved in an accident.

Personal injury and property damage caused by uninsured motorists run into tens of millions of dollars a year, costs that have to be absorbed by the insured motorists even when the accidents are not their fault. It is an unfair situation that should be corrected.

House Bill 800 is a logical and relatively inexpensive approach to the problem. Sponsored by Reps. William Laurino, D-Chicago, and Roger McAuliffe, R-Chicago, the bill calls for the following procedure:

Vehicle owners applying for registration with the secretary of state's office would have to supply the name of their insurance company and sign an affirmation attesting that they have proper insurance coverage.

Insurance companies would be required to issue a uniform insurance card designed in cooperation with Edgar's office that would serve as proof of insurance. Each driver would have to carry that card when operating a vehicle.

Police officers stopping a vehicle for a traffic violation would be authorized to request proof of insurance. If no proof were provided, a ticket would be issued.

Upon conviction, the penalty for a first offense would be a minimum $250 fine and a three-month suspension of the driver's license. The penalty for second and subsequent convictions within five years would be a minimum $500 fine and a six-month driver's license suspension.

The mandatory insurance bill would have no effect on the current state program for high-risk drivers. Insurance companies would not be forced to insure such drivers. They still would be placed in the Assigned Risk program.

Granted, no method of mandated liability insurance will be foolproof. Some drivers will obtain coverage long enough to get their license sticker and then cancel out. Others will sign the affidavit without actually having any insurance. The bill does not cover out-of-state drivers.

We believe, however, that such a law still would have a major impact. While a certain percentage would gamble on not being caught, most uninsured motorists would comply.

Oregon, for example, experienced that result. At the time it adopted mandatory insurance in 1977, 14 percent of its drivers were uninsured. That figure now has dropped to 7 percent, according to Edgar.

Edgar estimates the cost to the state at between $500,000 and $1 million, part of which would be used for random checks on insurance policies listed when vehicles are registered. These checks also would provide an incentive for complying with the law.

We urge the House and Senate to pass the Laurino-McAuliffe bill. Gov. James Thompson has given his support to the measure, so once it passes the legislative hurdle mandatory auto insurance will have a chance to correct an unfair situation in our state.

GET OUT OF JAIL FREE CARD Historical revisionism hysterical

There is a great deal of rewriting of history in the United States these days. One of the most outstanding scholars in the field is Prof. Heinrich Applebaum, who chairs the President's Commission for Historical Revisionism.

I found Applebaum in a tiny government office off Lafayette Park, tapping away on his word processor. He seemed to be grateful for the interruption.

"What are you working on?" I asked him.

He replied, "I Was a Teenage SS Colonel." It is the diary of a child who serves for 14 years as a storm trooper, only to become one of the millions of victims of World War II.

"Where did you find the diary?"

"It was tipped off by one of President Reagan's speechwriters."

"How do you explain the sudden interest in historical revisionism?"

Applebaum said, "You can't learn from history unless you rewrite it. The job of the revisionist is to make people forget the past. The neo-historian looks at what has been printed so far and then asks himself, 'Will this hurt or help our present alliances?' If it hurts, then he must reconcile the facts with what is in the nation's best interest."

Art

"Can you give me an example?"

"When the revisionists saw that the 40th anniversary of the end of World War II was coming up, we realized that the German people would be very sensitive if they were shown in a bad light. So we assigned a crack team of neo-historians to make their role in the unpleasantness more palatable. This book was the result." He handed me a volume titled "We Were All Guilty."

As I leafed through it he told me, "It proves that Adolf Hitler started World War II against the express wishes of the German people. As a matter of fact, we discovered the entire population rose up to stop him from invading Czechoslovakia, Poland and France."

"That's quite a scoop," I said. "You must have done a lot of research."

"We interviewed hundreds of people who lived through those days and couldn't find one who admitted to supporting Hitler's mad ambition to take over the world. This confirmed our earlier suspicions that Hitler worked alone."

"It sounds like you've got a Pulitzer prize winner here," I said. "What's this other manuscript?"

"That's my revisionist history of the war in the Pacific. It sheds a whole new light on how we got involved."

"In what way?"

"I discovered the Russians

bombed Pearl Harbor."

"That's one I hadn't heard before."

"They wanted us to think the Japanese had done it so we would declare war on the Axis powers. Roosevelt fell for it hook, line and sinker."

"I always thought there was more to Pearl Harbor than any of us had been led to believe. But if the Russians sank our fleet, why did the Japanese capture the Philippines?"

"Who says the Japanese captured the Philippines? They were Cubans dressed as Japanese."

"I looked over the manuscript and was impressed with what I read. 'If the United States had known who really bombed Pearl Harbor I'll bet we would never have dropped the atom bomb on Hiroshima.'"

"Who said the United States dropped the bomb on Hiroshima?"

"Don't tell me. If we didn't do it, who did?"

Applebaum said tersely, "The Nicaraguans."

Agency fighting child abuse

To the Editor:

The potential for child abuse exists everywhere. In today's mobile society, isolation and financial instability are just a few of the stressors that can contribute to child abuse and neglect.

Family Resources is a new not-for-profit organization whose mission is to provide early intervention and prevention programs for families throughout central southwest Illinois.

The programming is based on the philosophy that early detection can break the cycle of emotional and psychological problems that often exist, and enhance the quality of life of future generations.

Family Resources utilizes peer self-help and community support models as a means to engage individuals in healthy life experiences while at the same time providing cost-effective services.

The Parent Resource Program funded by the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services provides parent education and child development services to families experiencing difficulty in parenting.

The program was made possible by the many Illinois citizens who contributed a portion of their 1983 tax refund to combat the problem of child abuse and neglect.

Family Resources is at 407 E. Main St., Collinsville, 345-7732.

The Family Resources board includes as officers David Harris, an attorney, president; Elaine Hartley, a junior high counselor, secretary; and Judith Masera, a professor at McKendree College, treasurer.

Sandra Becker-Warden, executive director, is an accredited social worker through the National Association of Social Workers and is Illinois certified. She has had several years' experience in the field of mental health.

William Atkins, Family Resources management consultant, has had 17 years experience managing human service agencies and is a certified member of the National Association of Mental Health Administrators. SANDRA BECKER-WARDEN

Handicapped parking is free

To the Editor:

I encourage all handicapped persons to apply for free parking permits with the Secretary of State's Office.

A law that went into effect Jan. 1 grants free parking for the handicapped. They must first apply for authorization to use parking spaces designated for the handicapped.

The applications are easy to complete but require a written statement from a physician. Qualified applicants would no longer be required to feed parking meters, provided they met the following conditions:

Their vehicle has either a handicapped license plate or handicapped sticker

The meter allows for parking in excess of 30 minutes. Free parking does not apply for parking meters with time limits of 30 minutes or less.

When the General Assembly passed the free parking measure last year, it established a $50 fine for unauthorized parking in a handicapped zone. Together, these laws should help make the lives of the handicapped a little easier and should deter able-bodied drivers from parking in such spaces.

I urge all handicapped citizens to apply for their plates or stickers now. Only the official stickers will be exempt from parking fees.

Coca-Cola outsmarted by pep of Pepsi people

Coca-Cola marketing people were outsmarted. They let the competition outsell them.

They had to blame somebody or something — else.

So they blamed the formula. And they talked Coke into changing its formula.

They've goofed again. But they can make out if they will recover this fumble with the most ingenious advertising since Burma-Share.

The blind taste tests they show you on TV which indicate the public favors one soda pop over another are not contrived — but neither are they accurate.

The Wall Street Journal assigned a market researcher to make some comparative tests of the old Coke, the new Coke and Pepsi. And discovered that cola drinkers' loyalties are so flimsy they change from minute to minute.

The first test indicated they favored one particular brand.

Given a second test with shuffled bottles the same people indicated a preference for another brand.

Coke, in its advertising, tended to rely on the 99 years' longevity of that name, on the notion that Coke is "an American tradition."

But a generation with a shorter memory matured without loyalties rooted in the past.

And as the other colas began to capture an increasing market share, Coca-Cola

Paul
Harvey

elected to "try a new concoction."

It is not going to work.

They've left the public the impression that they are "running scared," the net effect is negative.

But before the Pepsi people take too many days off celebrating, let me suggest an 18-month ad campaign for Coca-Cola which could devastate the competition.

I'm suggesting that for the first time a corporation must renounce on the "new and improved" and repent in public.

We're sorry, Americans, we hadn't realized that those of you who want Coke + want the real thing.

On T V show us Michelangelo's David and the Mona Lisa and proclaim: "There are many copies; there is only one original."

Americans, forgive us; the only mistake our company made in a hundred years was to try to improve on perfection.

We are reverting to the one-and-only secret recipe.

You have convinced us, Americans, that "not even Coke beats Coke."

Gather 'round

What can help Johnny read?

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH
Staff writer

A unique way of combatting illiteracy among school-aged children is being spearheaded locally by a librarian and a group of senior citizens.

The program, called Front Porch Read Out, is one in which just about anyone can participate. The only requirement is a love of reading.

Local residents are being asked to volunteer one hour or more a week to read to neighborhood children. The reading takes place on the front porch of the volunteer's residence, hence the name Front Porch Read Out.

Books used for the readings may be borrowed from the local library.

Jim Herron, a Granite City librarian who gained fame from a library service he started for barge workers, is pushing for wide participation in the program.

"The idea is so simple," said Herron. "And it's a good idea because it doesn't cost anything."

Herron started the ball rolling by presenting the idea at a meeting of the local American Association of Retired Persons (AARP). He asked that seniors get involved, not only to help literacy, but to help bridge the generation gap.

"I thought it would be a good project for retired people to get involved in," said Herron. "I wanted them to get excited about it — about helping others."

Herron said another reason he appealed to the AARP is because it is a group of both women and men.

"I want men to get involved in this project too," Herron said. "I want to get away from the idea that reading is a feminine pursuit."

And apparently the idea has taken root with the senior group.

Bernice Mercer, president of the Granite City vicinity AARP Chapter 1340, said several members have already started to read to their neighborhood children.

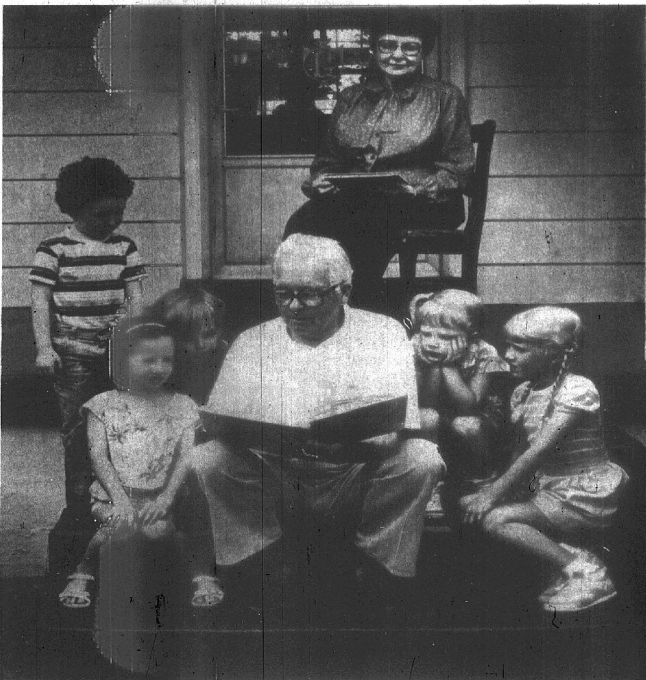

"We're enthused about it — we think it's a great idea," said Mercer. "It's something for the kids in the neighborhood that will keep them in the neighborhood."

Herron said he thinks the project will be a vital tool in fighting illiteracy.

"Some children are never read aloud to," Herron said. "Reading aloud peaks their interest and enables them to pick up on certain words."

"And I can't say enough about the people who are volunteering and who will volunteer their time for this project. This is a way they can be an important person in their neighborhood and do really valuable work."

Herron has prepared a list of suggested readings for youngsters. The list includes: "Madeline," by Ludwig Bemelmans; "The Little

Hughes; "Whistle for Willie," and "The Snowy Day," by Ezra Jack Keats; "A Rose for Pinkerton," by Steven Kellogg; "The Happy Day," by Ruth Krauss; "Swimmy," by Leo Lionni; "Blueberries for Sal," and "Make Way for Ducklings," by Robert Mc-Closkey; "Curious George," by Hans A. Rey; "Moths and Mother, Feathers and Fathers," by Larry Shles; "Do not Open," by Brinton Turkle; and "William's Doll," by Charlotte Zolotor.

Herron said he is stressing that the project be conducted on the front porch of the reader's home. Because of its nature, the program will only be conducted during warm weather months.

"I want the program conducted on the front porch so that parents are aware of where their children are," said Herron. "I don't want the readings to be done inside unless the parents are aware of this."

Herron said he is hoping the idea of reading aloud will spread nationwide.

"I want this program to be something that is done every summer from now on out," Herron said. "I want people to get fired up about illiteracy and do something about it."

House approves shield law

By JACK C. VENTIMIGLIA
Executive Editor

Reporters celebrated a small victory earlier this week when the Illinois House approved a measure strengthening shield law legislation. The measure, now on its way to the Senate, makes it more difficult to force reporters to reveal confidential sources in libel and slander suits.

STEVE YOUNG, attorney for the Illinois Press Association, said Thursday the measure met little opposition. Gov. James Thompson supports the legislation.

"All I can say is it helps to have the administration on your side," Young said. "It just sailed through the House. We're really just waiting for it to be presented to a Senate committee."

CURRENT SHIELD LAW legislation is not extended to reporters in libel and slander suits, to reporters working for free-distribution newspapers, or to part-time reporters. Proposed legislation deletes the exclusions.

Thompson's shield law support followed a Belleville News-Democrat editorial writer's jailing in July 1984. The writer, Richard Hargrave, refused to reveal sources consulted writing an editorial for the newspaper's opinion page.

On order from St. Clair County Associate Circuit Judge Roger M. Scrivner, Hargrave became the first reporter jailed in a libel suit since 1958. He spent 2½ days in jail before being released; his sources identified themselves.

The suit was brought by St. Clair County Board Chairman Jerry Costello, who was awarded $1.05 million by Scrivner on March 25. Costello said the opinion, calling him a liar, was defamatory.

SCRIVNER'S DECISION is being appealed. Hargrave's has stated it could take six months to a year for the case to be heard in the 8th District Appellate Court in Mount Vernon.

Spalding selected principal

By DAVE WHALEY
Staff writer

Kenneth Spalding, an assistant principal at Coolidge Junior High School, will be the new principal of Grigsby Junior High School for the 1985-86 school year.

Spalding's appointment to his new position was made by the Granite City School Board at its May 21 meeting.

Spalding replaces Charles Weiss, who is retiring at the end of this school year. Replacing Spalding at Coolidge will be James Jeffries, who had been assistant to Monte Kessler, director of data processing in the district. The board took no action to fill Jeffries' old position; he is a former elementary school principal.

In other personnel matters, the board re-employed three teachers who had been honorably dismissed. They are Janet Davinroy, a home economics teacher at Coolidge; Betty Hicks, mathematics teacher at the high school; and Charles Rousseau, math teacher at Coolidge.

The board granted an exploratory leave of absence to Jane Kehoe, physical education teacher at Mitchell Elementary School, for the 1985-86 year.

Retirements and resignations accepted included those of James Dumont, director of industrial, vocational and career education, who will retire effective June 30, 1987; and Jo Ann Gunning, an honorably dismissed teacher, effective May 31, 1985.

The board withheld a decision on any action relating to the possible elimination of the district's student smoking policy and accompanying rules and regulations.

Board member David Partney suggested holding on the action until the policy committee can meet and discuss the matter further.

The policy now provides for an assigned smoking area on the GCHS campus where all smoking must take place. Violation penalties range from a conference with the student for the first offense up to a five-day suspension and possible expulsion for repeated offenses.

Smoking inside the school building now calls for an immediate five-day suspension. A second offense results in a recommendation for expulsion.

Nine tickets issued after high-speed chase

A man was charged with nine traffic violations May 23 after he led Granite City police on a high-speed chase which ended in Madison. Gary D. Dugan, 30, of 2335 Rock Road was charged with fleeing and attempting to elude, speeding, driving on the sidewalk, three counts of disobeying traffic control devices, reckless driving, improper lane usage and no valid registration.

Police were dispatched on a report of a man driving recklessly on a dirt-bike. He allegedly headed north into a field adjacent to Illinois Route 3, heading toward Rock Road.

Police said Dugan stopped in the middle of the field, started toward a police officer, stopped and started travelling north again, repeating this six times.

The policeman called for assistance and the man went south on Route 3. The patrolman activated the red light and siren on his car, giving chase along W. 20th Street past lights at Route 3 and past a stop sign at Maple Street. At this point, the man allegedly drove onto a sidewalk at 60 miles per hour, almost striking several people.

A stoplight was passed at Rock Road and the pursuit continued under the 19th Street overpass and across railroad tracks. Another officer followed on Niedringhaus Avenue and stopped Dugan at 12th and State streets.

Track

It's mostly just a noise nuisance," Wright said local "hot rod" groups will be boosting the show and will probably invite their friends in.

"They will want to be where the bright lights are and where they will be seen on a Friday night," Wright said. "We expect that to be at Nameoki and Johnson roads. That's where we would anticipate any problems."

But Wright emphasized he doesn't expect any major problems. "The sponsor of the car shows keeps track of things," he said. "And if someone is arrested, he isn't allowed to enter in the next show. And these people are so proud of their cars, they don't want that to happen."

Wright said the Police Department expects 15 percent of the crowd to be in the area Friday, 60 percent Saturday, and another 20 percent Sunday.

"Our major traffic problem figures to be Sunday after the awards ceremony," he said. "There will be around 4,000 cars leaving the speedway Sunday afternoon."

"But the state police will be controlling traffic and there will be no through traffic on Route 203. So it shouldn't be too jammed in town. They will be leaving either into Missouri or going east."

Wright said the city might have to relax some of its ordinances for the weekend.

"We can't arrest somebody for drinking a beer by their car when there might be several hundred people around doing the same thing," he said. "But I think a lot of the concerns raised in that article are unfounded. There was a rumor that Hell's Angels would be coming. That isn't true at all. These car groups don't get along at all with the motorcycle groups."

Wright also said no cars will be left at the speedway at night. Everyone will leave and stay in motels in St. Louis, Collinsville or the Granite City area.

The carnival at Wilson Park opens on a Saturday. Barry Loman of the park board asked Wright if he thought the police might recommend delaying the start until Sunday.

"I see no reason for that," Wright said. "The carnival is in Wilson Park and they will likely be on Nameoki Road."

"I think our worries have been alleviated," said Board President George Sykes. "I know I had some concerns. But, actually, I think the carnival could benefit from it (the car show). It could mean some extra business."

Orientation set at tech

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Staff writer

Orientation days are Tuesday, May 28, and Thursday, May 30, for adult students interested in attending the Venice-Lincoln Technical Center's summer school program.

Peter Ponce, VLTTC director, said the summer session, which involves General Education Development classes and a possible driver's education program, is open only to Public Aid clients.

The center's first summer school classes will start June 3 and continue through Aug. 23. Eligible persons wishing to enroll in classes should report to Venice-Lincoln Technical Center on South 4th Street, Venice, at 9 a.m. Tuesday and Thursday. Appointments for interviews may be made by calling 874-7792.

At Thursday night's meeting of the Venice School Board, Ponce said at least 10 students are needed in a class before reimbursement requirements are met.

Teachers from the Venice School District who are interested in teaching summer school are being asked to register at the present time, he said.

He also said it is highly probable two aides will be needed for the child care program. "As we do not have aides at the center, it may be possible to offer these jobs to aides in the Venice School District," Ponce informed the board.

Further supplies and textbooks also will be required for the summer program, depending on the number of students, he said. The Venice Board of Education administers the adult center, which is funded with federal and state grants.

Funds for the first summer school are being provided by the Illinois Department of Public Aid, which requires that students be listed on the PA recipients' roll, the director explained.

NORBERT D. TATE: His solo percussion recital is set for 8:15 p.m. May 28 at the SIUE Communications Building theater, featuring contemporary, traditional and abstract selections for the field drum, snare drum, vibraphone, kettle drums, timpani and multi-percussion. He will graduate June 8 from the university with a bachelor of music degree in education. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Tate, he graduated in 1980 from Granite City high school South.

Services conducted for Helen Persful

Graveside services were conducted Friday, May 17, at 1:45 p.m. at St. John Cemetery, 2901 Nameoki Road, for Mrs. Helen Barnes Persful, 76, of Granite City.

She died at 3:23 a.m. Thursday, May 16, 1985, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Energy savings.

You can turn bad news into real energy savings by replacing your worn-out air conditioner with a new add-on electric heat pump.

A heat pump air conditioner will keep your home cool this summer and use much less electric energy than most older air conditioners. That adds up to noticeable savings on your utility bill!

Year 'round energy economy.

But the advantages of an add-on heat pump don't stop when summer ends. In cold weather, the add-on heat pump switches to a warming cycle to circulate heat into the house. The add-on heat pump works in partnership with your existing forced air furnace to keep your home comfortable year 'round.

ALL AROUND THE BONFIRE. Boy Scouts, leaders and parents circle the huge bonfire Saturday night.

ALL IN A ROW. Tents, canopies and other camping gear line the Uniwah District Camporee area.

Uniwah Camporee

More than 200 local Boy Scouts, Webelos, scoutmasters and parents participated in the annual Camporee of the Uniwah District, Boy Scouts of America last weekend at Horseshoe Lake campgrounds.

First aid, knot tying, radioactive material disposal and a compass course challenged the scouts on the second day of the weekend event. Each patrol attempted to complete the required tasks as accurately and quickly as possible.

Skills were performed by the various troops around the huge bonfire Saturday night. The setting was also used for recognition of Scouts and patrols demonstrating outstanding ability during the day's events.

A highlight of the Camporee was the "Crossing the Bridge Into Scouting" ceremony for the attending Webelos, making them full-fledged Boy Scouts. Many of the young boys' parents attended the ceremony on the first night of the Camporee.

The Scouts also earned their Conservation Skill Award and several parts of the Soil and Water Conservation Badge by doing service projects within the park during the weekend.

Outdoor cooking, chores around the camp sites and hiking were just some of the activities that kept the Scouts busy between the various organized events.

Holiday headlines in 'Sing, Mahalia, Sing'

George Faison's "Sing, Mahalia, Sing," a new musical about gospel legend Mahalia Jackson, starring Tony and Grammy Award-winner Jennifer Holliday, star of Broadway hits "Dreamgirls" and "Your Arm's Too Short to Box With God," will be presented by The Mundy at the Fox Theater Wednesday, May 29, through Sunday, June 2. Performances are at 8 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday, 7 p.m. Sunday, and also at 2 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

"Sing, Mahalia, Sing" is on a three-month, 12-city tour that began in Washington in March. The cast also includes The Richard Smallwood Singers, Glenn Jones, Lynette Hawkins Stephens, Wayne Davis and Brother John Sellers.

The show will blend some of Mahalia Jackson's most famous songs with original music and lyrics by Smallwood, Faison and Davis. It will span Mahalia Jackson's life from New Orleans laundress to international star and will portray the depth of faith and scope of talent which defined the gospel legend's life and career.

The show is directed by Faison, the director/choreographer who won Tony and Drama Desk awards for his choreography and musical staging of the Broadway show, "The Wiz."

Holliday came to prominence in the 1979 Broadway production of "Your Arm's Too Short to Box With God." She was featured in the show when it was presented that year at the American Theater in St. Louis.

Jennifer Holliday

She was only 18 years old at the time and had previously been a soloist with the Pleasant Grove Baptist Church Choir in Houston.

Two years later, she again was a hit on Broadway as the talented and determined Effie in "Dreamgirls." She won a Tony Award for best actress in a musical, and a Grammy Award for her solo in that show.

"And I'm Telling You I'm Not Going," "Sing, Mahalia, Sing" is her first theatrical project since "Dreamgirls."

Magic House to host St. Louis Trivia Night

"St. Louis Trivia Night" is the title of a special event scheduled for Saturday, June 1, at the Magic House, 516 S. Kirkwood Road, St. Louis. It will be held from 6 to 10 in conjunction with the monthly Adults Only Evening.

That night, upon entering the Magic House, all visitors will be asked a question from the St. Louis Trivia board game. Those who answer their question correctly will be admitted free of charge.

Adults Only Evenings are held the first Saturday of every month from 6 to 10 for anyone 18 years or older.

Regular admission to the museum is $2.50, and group rates are available. Parking is free.

Dance contest judged in unusual way

Anyone who has attended a parade is familiar with the judging stand, a platform where all the marching bands in competition are judged. But at a clog-dancing contest in the Ozarks, the judge will have a wholly different vantage point—seated on a three-legged milking stool, scrunching beneath an old wooden farm wagon.

The event with this unusual approach to judging is the 11th annual "Mountain Folks' Music Festival" June 8 to 16 at Silver Dollar City, near Branson and Springfield, Mo.

According to Rex Burdette, himself a clogging professional and a judge, the contest—bringing entrants from as far as Utah and Florida—has a specialty segment Saturday, June 15, when dancers are tested for the "clarity" of their taps' sound.

Burdette explained, "There happened to be an old frontier-style wagon nearby—not unusual for a town that portrays life of 100 years ago—so it was an easy decision to put each boy and girl who competes up in the wagon with the judge sitting beneath it. He hears perfectly but he's not distracted by appearance or anything else."

The festival presents over 100 hill-people musicians, singing and playing just as their families have done at their homes for generations. Some call their songs "the hand-me-down music of the hills, America's real heartbeat in folk music."

GRILLED MEATS

Backyard hospitality means grilled sandwiches

Shout hello to summer with a Memorial Day picnic. Invite the neighbors to this backyard smorgasbord. Mix-and-match meat and sauces to create Saucy Grilled Sandwiches that easily serve 10 to 12.

There's something for everyone at this picnic. Grill tender chunks of steak, chicken and frankfurters on skewers and serve in pita bread pockets or crusty rolls. An assortment of toppings and fresh vegetables lets your guests create their own individual combination sandwiches.

PICK A TOPPING. Each one is a snap to prepare. Sweet Mustard Sauce boldly combines spicy mustard and currant jelly with chili powder and onion.

For a mild and creamy accent, choose California Topping. Its smooth base is quickly made from packaged sour cream sauce mix. Shredded cheese and zucchini add a lively texture and color. Let the traditionalist choose Zesty Tomato Sauce served warm from the grill. The touch of Worcestershire sauce will be an inviting surprise.

Complete the picnic with iced tea and homemade strawberry ice cream for a delicious and hospitable welcome to summer.

Saucy Grilled Sandwiches
1 slice sirloin steak, about 1-inch thick
6 chicken breast halves, skinned and boned
1/2 lb. frankfurters
Crusty rolls or pita bread
Tangy Sweet Mustard Sauce
California Topping
Zesty Tomato Sauce
Cut steak, chicken, and frankfurters into 1-inch pieces. Arrange on separate skewers.
Grill over hot coals, turning frequently, 10 to 12 minutes for steak and chicken, 5 to 7 minutes for frankfurters.

Baked beans old-fashioned

1 lb. pea or navy beans
Water
1/4 lb. dried salt pork or bacon
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/4 cup molasses
1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 tsp. prepared mustard
1 tsp. salt
Rinse and sort beans. Cover with water. Soak overnight. Drain.
Place beans in large saucepan and cover with water. Cover and simmer 1 hour, until just tender.
Drain beans, reserving water; place in 2-quart casserole.
Combine 1 cup of the reserved water with salt pork, onion, molasses, brown sugar, mustard and salt. Stir into beans. Cover and bake at 300° for 2 1/2 hours, stirring occasionally.
Uncover and bake 2 hours, or until tender, adding some of the reserved water if top seems too dry.
Makes 6 servings.

Barbecue onions

Barbecue and serve these handy packets of onions as individual toppings for charcoal-broiled meats such as spareribs, chicken or burgers. Peel and chop sweet onions to measure 3 cups. For each serving, place 1/2 cup chopped onion on a square of foil.
Combine 1/2 cup ketchup, 1/2 cup melted butter, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard, 1/2 teaspoon paprika and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Spoon mixture over each serving of onions. Wrap tightly.
Place packets on grill or on coals. Cook 20 to 30 minutes or until heated through, turning occasionally.
Makes 6 packets.

Barbecue game hens

By Olivia and Paul Bensen
Copley News Service

Rock Cornish game hens, also known as Cornish game hens and Rock Cornish hens, are the main ingredient in several of our favorite recipes. Averaging about 1 pound apiece, they are a perfect size for one serving, and have much less fat than chicken.

Game hens also lend themselves to beautiful presentation and easy serving — each person carves his own. The meat has a rich distinctive taste, and absorbs the flavor of sauces wonderfully well.

A cross between Cornish and White Plymouth Rock chickens, game hens were bred for small size and a high proportion of meat to body size. They are available in almost all large supermarkets. Usually less than $2 apiece, they make an inexpensive and dramatic entree.

TANDOORI-STYLE BARBECUED GAME HENS

4 game hens
Marinate:
1 heaping cup plain yogurt
2 tbsps. vegetable oil
1/4 cup fresh lemon juice
1 tsp. turmeric
1 tsp. cumin
1/2 tsp. paprika
1 1/2 tps. salt
1 tsp. freshly ground black pepper
4 cloves garlic, finely chopped
1 tsp. hot chili powder
1 tsp. ground red pepper
1/4 tsp. cinnamon

Combine all marinade ingredients and mix well.
Clean and halve game hens.

Marinate halves for several hours, or overnight, in large bowl or plastic bag.

Cook over large charcoal fire, using baster and water to control heat occasionally, so that game hen halves cook through thoroughly without blackening on outside. Turn halves frequently, using pastry brush to apply marinade liberally each time halves are turned.
Serves 4.

1/4 cup cider vinegar
1/4 cup tomato paste
3 tbsps. honey
1/2 cup soy sauce
2 cloves garlic, minced

Combine all marinade ingredients and mix well.

Clean and halve game hens. Marinate halves for several hours, or overnight, in large bowl or plastic bag.

Cook over large charcoal fire, using baster and water to control heat occasionally, so that game hen halves cook through thoroughly without blackening on outside. Turn halves frequently, using pastry brush to apply marinade liberally each time halves are turned.

Note: Use fresh pineapple, if available. Mash it with a potato masher, or process it briefly in a food processor or blender.
Serves 4.

ISLAND BARBECUED GAME HENS

4 game hens

Short, easy recipes from the kitchen

Special steak

1 beef porterhouse steak, cut 1 inch thick
1 clove garlic, minced
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. finely chopped parsley
1 tsp. grated lemon peel
1 tbsp. chopped pecans
2 tbsp. butter
1 tsp. lemon juice
8 oz. broccoli
Combine garlic and salt thoroughly to form paste. Stir in parsley and lemon peel. Rub mixture over both sides of steak.
Place steak on rack in broiler pan so surface of meat is 3 to 4 inches from heat. When browned, turn and finish cooking on second side.
Allow about 15 to 20 minutes total cooking time for rare; 20 to 25 minutes for medium.
Meanwhile, steam broccoli until tender crisp.
Toast pecans in small frying pan over medium heat 1 minute. Remove pan from heat; stir in butter and lemon juice. Pour over broccoli.
Separate the porterhouse into two steaks, a top loin and a tenderloin. Remove the tenderloin portion by cutting close to the bone.
Makes 2 servings.

Swiss oatmeal

1 cup rolled oats
1 cup boiling water
2 tbsp. honey
2 cups chopped fresh or dried fruits (apples, berries, grapes, peaches, raisins, apricots)
1/2 to 1 cup plain lowfat yogurt or skim milk
Add oats to water; soak overnight. Before serving, combine the oat water mixture with honey, fruit and yogurt or milk.
Makes about 4 1/2 cups.

Microwave magic

1 cup fresh strawberries, quartered
3/4 cup port wine
1/2 cup water
1/2 (3 oz.) pkg. raspberry gelatin
1 cup vanilla ice cream
Soak strawberries in wine for 1 hour.
In 2-cup glass measure place water. Heat in microwave oven at high for 1 minute until dissolved. Stir in gelatin until dissolved. Add strawberry mixture.
Spoon into 2 dessert glasses; chill until firm.
In small bowl place the vanilla ice cream. Soften in microwave oven at low 30 seconds.
Spoon softened ice cream atop strawberry gelatin mixture in dessert glasses.
Makes 2 servings.

Ham grill meal

3/4 cup Russian salad dressing
2 cooked ham steaks (3/4 to 1 lb. ea.), about 1/2-inch thick
1 can (11 oz.) mandarin oranges, drained and chopped
1 can (8 1/2 oz.) crushed pineapple, drained
3/4 cup plain toasted croutons
1/2 cup raisins
1/2 cup brown sugar
In shallow baking dish, pour red Russian dressing over ham, cover and marinate in refrigerator, turning occasionally, at least 3 hours.
In medium saucepan, combine oranges, pineapple, croutons, raisins and sugar; heat through.
Place stuffing mixture on one steak and top with remaining steak; tie securely with string.
Grill or broil 10 minutes, turning once and basting with remaining marinade.
Makes about 4 servings.

Limey fruit salad

2 cups halved grapes, seeded if necessary
1 can (16 oz.) pears, drained and cut into chunks
1 orange, peeled, sliced and halved
1/2 cup blueberries, fresh or partially thawed frozen
1/2 cup dried apricots; coarsely cut
Creamy Lime Dressing
Lettuce, if desired
Combine grapes, pears, orange, blueberries and apricots. Refrigerate until serving time.
Toss with Creamy Lime Dressing. Serve in small bowls or on lettuce-lined plates.
Makes 8 to 10 servings. Recipe can be halved.
Creamy Lime Dressing: Combine 1/2 cup mayonnaise, 1/4 cup dairy sour cream, 1 tablespoon lime juice, 1 tablespoon honey and 1/2 teaspoon grated lime peel.
Makes 1/2 cup.

Sour cream lighter

Sour cream contains only 25 calories per tablespoon. This is 75 calories less than the calories in a tablespoon of mayonnaise.

Quesadillas saute

In a skillet, saute 1 medium onion in oil until tender. Place about 1 tablespoon grated Monterey Jack cheese and 1/2 teaspoon minced onion on one side of 4-inch fresh corn tortilla. Fold over and grill on a hot, lightly greased grill or skillet.
For 24 appetizers use 1 medium onion, 1 pound Monterey Jack cheese and 2 dozen (4-inch) fresh corn tortillas. Serve with chunky taco sauce.

Fresh avocado treat

To prepare an avocado for use, cut it in half lengthwise around the pit.

Rotate the two halves to separate. To remove the pit, either slide the tip of a spoon gently underneath and lift out or carefully whack the pit with a sharp knife, embedding the knife in the pit. Rotate the knife to lift the pit out.

Sprinkle all cut surfaces of an avocado with lemon or lime juice to retain the bright golden-green color.

Burgers again?

Leftover burgers can make a return performance in any of the following delightful new guises:
Reheat one hamburger, without the bun, loosely covered, in microwave oven at medium high 1 1/2 minutes.
Sauce the meat patties with quick hollandaise from a package mix or creamy mushroom gravy from condensed soup.
Crumble the cooked meat into a bowl of chili, spaghetti sauce or taco sauce.
Stir burger pieces into a simmering cheese soup or Oriental vegetable stir-fry.

Beef up the cheese filling for manicotti shells or a rice filling for stuffed green peppers.
Sprinkle well-seasoned hamburger chunks on a pizza or into corn bread batter.

Pistachios perfect

Pistachios only have been grown commercially in California since the early 1970's. In fact, as late as 1968 only 600 acres of pistachio trees existed in California. Today there are over 40,000 acres, of which 32,000 are now producing.

With an annual harvest of about 40 million pounds, California is the world's second largest producer of pistachios. As additional acreage reaches maturity, the harvest is expected to double in size by 1990.

Estate Wapner's game

By Nancy Anderson
Copley News Service

HOLLYWOOD—The first time Judge Joseph A. Wapner walked into small-claims court he was a plaintiff and lost the case. But he overcame the setback and rose to the bench of the most famous small-claims court in the world: "The People's Court," a television proceedings seen in 180 domestic markets five times a week and in 30 foreign countries. "The People's Court" is entertaining television fare, since not even Shirley Silliphant could dream up characters comparable to those it features. Wapner, a judge, not a lawyer, honest-to-goodness cases are heard and settled there. Only people who have actually filed suits in small-claims court or who have been served appear, and Wapner's decisions are legally binding.

No actors participate in the show. The litigants are the real parties, right off the streets. And the judge is a real judge. Wapner spent more than 20 years presiding over municipal and superior courts and has been president of the California Judges Association.

One may not volunteer to settle his suit in "The People's Court." Litigation is by invitation only. Wapner says lawyers have called him suggesting cases for "The People's Court," and that one judge, a friend of his, called suggesting a case that he, the caller, had already tried.

"The People's Court" acquires its calendar through efforts of researchers who comb the files of Southern California counties. From these they dredge cases they believe would interest television viewers. Plaintiffs are contacted before defendants to determine whether they'd be willing to settle their claims at Wapner's bench.

The judge, who has become a media star, says his mail includes mesh notes, but usually is made up of letters from people who want to tell him about their experiences in court. Some people write disagreeing with his decisions, but none of his mail has been threatening.

"People get mad if they lose a case, but not because of the money," Wapner says. "Usually the money doesn't seem to mean anything."

However, when Wapner, who was neither a judge nor a lawyer at the time, made his first appearance in a small-claims court, money did mean something. He was an assistant credit manager for a jewelry store and, in that capacity, went to court, where he lost the case.

From his experience presiding in Southern California courts, Wapner remembers traffic cases with something close to affection.

"I had one case," he says, "where a man was charged with speeding. He was driving a Cadillac, but he said he couldn't have been speeding because his car wouldn't go more than 35 miles an hour."

Wapner found this hard to believe, but, being a just jurist, he kept an open mind. He told the defendant that if he'd wait until court adjourned, judge and bailiff would test drive the car.

"I went out with my bailiff driving," Wapner says, "and sure enough that Cadillac wouldn't go over 35."

In another instance, a man argued with running a stop sign charged there was no stop sign at the point of his alleged offense.

"I'll donate $100 to your favorite charity if there's a stop sign there," the defendant declared. The judge told him to deposit a $100 check while the bailiff checked the facts. Sure enough, there was no boulevard stop sign at the point in question. The judge offered the defendant his money back, but the man said he'd give it to charity anyway.

"The next man who came up had the same story involving another intersection, so I did the same thing with him," Wapner said. "And it turned out there was no stop sign there, either. So I got money for charity, and two men were found 'not guilty.'"

Wapner's popularity with TV viewers has attracted the attention of producers other than the Ralph Edwards people who produce "The People's Court." He's been invited, for instance, to cruise on "The Love Boat." But the judge is scrupulously deaf to such siren songs.

"It would be fun to play a role on some show," he admits, "but I don't want to do anything that will detract from the public's perception of me as a judge."

A KINGDOM OF THE EASTERN HIMALAYAS: BHUTAN: photos by Guy van Strydonck, text by Francois Pompadour-Imaeda and Yoshio Imaeda; Shambhala; 175 pages; $35. Overseas volume showcase for spectacular color photos of Van Strydonck who toured the remote land as a royal guest. Bhutanese, who practice Tantric Buddhism, are a gentle, tolerant people with a warm, happy culture. They live in a valley of great beauty bordered in the north by massive mountains and in the south by jungle. Valley has a peace, quality as if time had been suspended. Maybe Shangri-la does exist.

THE GRADUAL VEGETARIAN: by Lisa Tracy; Evans; 297 pages; $17.95. The key word is gradual. Tracy advises those thinking of becoming a vegetarian to take it in slow stages—retaining poultry, fish and eggs in the first stage, then slowly shifting to dairy products, nuts, beans and grains for protein. Author says "carbohydrates—fruits, vegetables and unrefined grain products—are more easily digested than meat, are virtually fat free and do not contain the hormones used to fatten livestock."

THE AIRMAN AND THE CARPENTER—The Lindbergh kidnapping and the Framing of Richard Hauptmann; by Ludovic Kennedy; Viking; 436 pages; $18.95. They execute the wrong man on April 3, 1936? Did the real kidnaper of infant Charles Lindbergh Jr. die of consumption in prison long before earlier? Bruno Richard Hauptmann actually was guilty only of accidentally discovering the ransom money in a shoe box, then concealing it and spending the money, according to the author. He presents this theory of the case in another examination of one of history's most famous crimes.

COLOR PROCESSING AND PRINTING: by Ann Brandeis; Spectrum; 176 pages; $9.95 (softcover). Most amateur photographers seem to feel that doing their own color darkroom work would be hopelessly complicated. But, with the development of new processing and printing systems in recent years, it really isn't that difficult. And, with control over the print, the photographer can produce stunning prints that will amaze and wall. Other books being published in Spectrum's "master class photography series" are "Techniques of Portrait Photography" and "In-Camera Special Effects."

Price lowered for swim pool season passes at park

The Granite City Park Board has decided to offer season passes to the Wilson Park swimming pool at reduced prices through June 10. Family passes, normally $45, will be $40; children's passes ($15) will be $12.50; and adult passes ($25) will be $22.50.

Other promotions to enhance attendance at the pool were discussed at a park board meeting May 22, but the reduced price for passes was the only one the board members adopted.

"I think they are receptive to some of the ideas," said Dave Nolan, director of parks and recreation. "But I think they wanted to see how his one worked out first."

Nolan said the pool will have free days for children every other Friday, starting June 7.

Nolan also said the district has spent between $3,000 and $3,500 on the pool this year out of $10,000 originally allocated.

The board announced committees for the fiscal year. All board members will serve on all committees, with President George Sykes serving as an ex-officio member of each committee. His vote would break any 2-2 votes on committee matters.

Jeff Worthen will be chairman of the finance committee, with Nancy Miles vice-chairman; Miles will chair the engineering committee, with Worthen the vice-chairman; Barry Loman will chair the rules, personnel and personnel committee, with Dora Darnell the vice-chairman; and Darnell will chair the municipal relations committee, with Loman the vice-chairman.

A finance committee meeting will be held at 6:30 p.m. June 5 at the board offices to discuss the budget for the 1985-86 fiscal year.

Willing Workers on cable TV

Susan Hoffman, field representative for the Social Security administration, was guest speaker at the Willing Workers meeting held May 16 in the Tri-City Area YMCA.

She reviewed various aspects of Social Security, distributed brochures and fielded questions. Misconceptions were clarified as concerns of the members were discussed, according to Steve Ortiz, Willing Workers president.

The meeting's entire proceedings were videotaped by South-Western Cable TV and will be aired at 7 p.m. Tuesday, May 28, on "Networking," a cable television social service program.

In other business, Dean Kesner, community garden supervisor, reported most of the garden is planted and the basic problem is keeping ahead of the weeds.

The Willing Workers agreed to support Project Help at a bake sale June 28 and 29 by providing a variety of baked goods for the fund-raising project. Project Help supports unemployed workers.

The group voted to participate in the Granite City Park District's craft show June 30 in Wilson Park.

Further information about the Willing Workers may be obtained by contacting Brenda Derby at 676-2305. The next meeting was set for 10 a.m. June 22 at the YMCA.

John Denver to perform June 3-4

John Denver will appear at the Fabulous Fox Theatre for two performances, June 3 and 4.

With such hits as "Rocky Mountain High," "Sunshine on my Shoulders" and "Take Me Home, Country Roads," Denver has generated a career of 11 gold and five platinum albums. Star of numerous television specials and movies, he has performed with such celebrities as George Burns, Beverly Sills and the Muppets.

In "The Man and his Music" world tour, Denver stresses audience communication. "The shows have an in-imate feeling," he explained. "I get to be one with the people."

Denver said he chooses to present his music in a personal way because his songs make personal statements. "I sing songs about America, about the family, about the celebration of life. I sing about what I know," he said.

Performances begin at 8 both nights. Tickets, ranging from $6.90 to $17.90, are available at all Ticketmaster locations, including Record Company in Granite City. Tickets also may be purchased at Dialtix, 4-314-421-1400.

New Petty album big winner

By Robin Welles
Copley News Service

HOLLYWOOD — The flame may have flickered for Tom Petty, but it certainly didn't go out.

A bone-thin blond with an incredible drive for perfection, Petty has been on the musical sidelines for nearly three years while recovering from a mild case of premature burnout that sprang from non-stop touring and recording with The Heartbreakers.

Now he's back with a new album released by MCA called "Southern Accents." And there have been some changes made in the Petty act. Such as using a 26-piece orchestra conducted by Jack Nitzsche. And going outside the ranks of The Heartbreakers to link up with Dave Stewart of Eurythmics to co-write some of the material for the LP. And exploring in such new areas as funk and soul.

So the model has been altered, but it's still got the purr of a Porsche. Petty, after all, is a musician who once endangered his career as a guitarist by smashing his fist into a recording studio wall in a fit of frustration.

It's only Petty's sixth album, or, actually, the fifth since the first one back in 1976 was a flop (although not to some of the critics). The latest is definitely not a heartbreaker. A winner all the way.

INTO THE NIGHT — Movie Soundtrack (MCA) — You can't go wrong with a lineup like this: B.B. King, Pat LaBelle, Thelma Houston, Marvin Gaye and The Four

Tops. Legendary blues guitarist and vocalist King contributes three of the tracks. LaBelle throws all her considerable energy into "Don't Make Me Say I'm Sorry," and Houston follows up with "Keep It Light."

DEBARGE — Rhythm of the Night (Motown) — Sophisticated pop from a quintet that represents half of the 10-sibling gang from Grand Rapids, Mich. El DeBarge has honed the group into such a precise blend that nary a harmonic seam shows. It's no wonder they fit together so well: The kids grew up singing gospel.

SLADE — Rogues Gallery (CBS) — Veteran quartet is long of tooth but still capable of blowing out amplifiers and speakers. Sinister-looking bunch of characters who pride themselves as working-class louts from English Midlands.

One of the earliest metal-benders. Caution advised.

Americans are fond of "greatest" surveys. The latest surveyed members of The Association for Classical Music. What, they were asked, did they consider the all-time bests in the classical field?

No. 1 was a surprise, but then so were some of the others.

Top choice was Stravinsky's "The Rite of Spring."

Runners-up included Bach's "B Minor Mass," Beethoven's Symphonies 5 and 9, Mussorgsky's "Boris Godunov," Kabelec's "Mystery of Time" and Mendelssohn's Symphony No. 7.

No. Mozart was not a top finisher, although his "Don Giovanni" and "The Marriage of Figaro" picked up a couple of votes. Kabelec and Mendelssohn are greater than Mozart? Amazing.

Evening was up his alley

By George Christy

HOLLYWOOD — "It's not easy to spend one's life in the theater. We disturb people, look for ideas, ask audiences to listen and hear, to imagine the possibilities of life," notes Pat Brown, the artistic director of Houston's Alley Theater, which was created in 1947 by Nina Vance after she sent 214 penny postcards to "a group of enthusiastic thespians."

Recently, John Houseman, director and producer, actor and founder of theaters, was honored with the Alley Award for his artistic contributions during the past 50 years.

"Each of us in this room has been touched by your talent and dedication," declared Pat Brown in presenting Houseman the beautiful obelisk of rock crystal on a malachite base trimmed in gold.

The evening's mistress of ceremonies, Mariette Hartley, was a cynosure in her trailing silk gown, and she talked about being in her teens when Houseman accepted her as an understudy with the Stratford Theater in Connecticut where she played Juliet, Helena in "As You Like It" and Perdita in "A Winter's Tale."

She then introduced friends of Houseman who flew in for the auspicious gathering at the Texas Commerce Bank that was built in the 1920s. Ninety-one-year-old Virgil Thomson recalled that in 1934 Houseman premiered the Virgil Thomson/Gertrude Stein opera of "Four Saints in Three Acts" (with its famed "pigeons in the grass, alas" lyrics) — "we learned that we could work happily in show biz."

He added that theirs was the first black casting of a non-black script, and that Houseman directed Leslie Howard in "Hamlet," as well as Katharine Hepburn in numerous Shakespeare plays at Stratford.

James Stephens, who co-stairs with Houseman in Showtimes "Paper Chase" series, George Grizzard and Norman Lloyd also shared memories about their friend.

After he discussed leaving the grain business in London in 1929, where he went bankrupt, the 83-year-old Houseman assessed several views of old age.

"There's the 'This Is Your Life' syndrome where you're haunted by people from your past, and another outlook that there is no such thing as growing old."

He pointed out how he was approached to direct "The Country Girl" at the Kennedy Center in the early '70s when he thought his career was over, and how the career took off again, after he decided he wasn't going to sit by the fire and retire. This summer he'll stage "Richard III" starring Paxton Whitehead at the Globe Theater in San Diego.

Gene Tierney was among the guests who gave Houseman a standing ovation. "I have no desire to act now," Gene reveals. "Besides, the parts at my age aren't very good... and I was always hungry all those years when I was acting."

Pitching falters, but Warriors win anyway

Regional Action

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Executive Sports Editor

GRANITE CITY — When Bob Stegmeyer altered his lineup to make it stronger defensively, the Warrior baseball coach knew he was compensating for what his team lacked in pitching.

Through five and a half innings in the first round of the Collinsville Class AA Regional Thursday afternoon, Stegmeyer was looking pretty good. His defensive strategy was working to perfection — the Warriors took a commanding 11-0 lead and Warrior pitcher Allen Zentgraf was flirting with a one-hit shutout.

But then something happened. The very thing thing that Stegmeyer had assembled his team to defense was beginning to happen. The Warrior pitching began to falter and the Kahoks were closing the point spread.

Through the sixth and seventh innings, the Warriors utilized four pitchers — Zentgraf, Darin Spalding, Mark Bowen and Jeff Zukas — in their attempt to retire the Kahoks. In all, the Kahoks sent 16 men to the plate during the two-inning period, nearly as many batters as they had during the previous five innings combined. The end result was two three-run innings.

But despite Collinsville's rally and the Warriors' inability to retire the Kahoks in the final two innings, it was too little too late.

"The Warriors scattered 13 hits and breezed to an 11-6 victory and earned the right to meet East St. Louis on Saturday at 10 a.m. at Art Fletcher Field in Collinsville's Woodland Park in the semi-final round of the regional."

"We went to the lower pitching and they sure didn't do the job," Stegmeyer said. "Al (Zentgraf) did a good job and we had other thoughts with a 11-0 lead. We didn't want him to go too long in case he has to go again Monday. We wanted to try and save him a little bit. I think he could have finished for us. It's nice to have an 11-0 lead so you can do those things," Stegmeyer said.

Was Stegmeyer concerned when his relief pitching failed to do the job?

"We gave up six runs in the last two innings, but we had 11 and that's what counts. You can do a lot of things when you've got that many runs. We gave a lot of people the opportunity to throw."

While the Warriors were throwing nearly ever pitcher they had — except for Ernie Gray who will start against the Flyers — the Kahoks used two hurlers — Duane Burress who pitched 4 and a third innings, who was tagged for the loss, and Frank Bennett. Zentgraf got the win for the Warriors improved his record to 5-1.

Aided by two Kahoks errors and three timely hits, the Warriors took a 3-0 lead after half an inning. Designated hitter Jim Chomko started things off when he doubled down the right field line.

Shane Cole reached on a walk to put runners at first and second for Pat Cathey who slapped a shot down the right field line to load the bases.

The Warriors picked up their first run of the afternoon when Todd Hinterser bounced a high chopper to Burress, who would have had an easy play at the plate, but mishandled the ball and allowed Chomko to score.

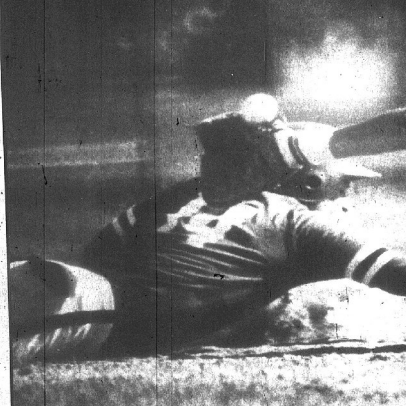

Steve Davis, who has settled in at third base, batted in the Warriors' other two runs in the inning when he singled to center field to score Cole and Cathey.

The game remained somewhat of a pitchers' duel until the top of the fifth when the Warriors began to take a commanding lead.

John Conkovich, who has an on-base percentage of .490 and leads the team in walks, started the inning off with a chopping grounder to Paul Blyuey at second base. Blyuey misplayed the ball, allowing Conkovich to reach.

Conkovich advanced to second on a pickoff by Cathey at first base. Burress made two throws to the bag before throwing the ball out of play.

Conkovich advanced to second and then to third when Kahok catcher Bob Radosovich attempted to throw out Fred Becker stealing second who was pinch-running for Chomko. Becker, incidentally, picked up three stolen bases during the contest and now needs only two to tie the stolen base record set in 1980 by Bob Batley. Batley stole 25 as a Steeler at Granite City North.

Cole gave the Warriors a 4-0 lead when he singled to left field, scoring Conkovich.

After Cathey fanned, Hinterser singled to left field to load the bases for Davis, who executed a perfect sacrifice and score Becker.

With runners at second and third, Granite City made the score 7-0 when Dennis Gaudreault swatted a ball to deep right-center field. Collinsville's right fielder, Marty Conway, appeared to be under the ball, but lost it in the sun, allowing Gaudreault a triple and two RBI's.

The Warriors picked up four more runs in the top of the sixth to take an 11-0 lead. In fact, they came within two outs of forcing a shortened contest because of the 10-run rule.

To start the sixth, Dave Bamber doubled to left field, Kurt Hyla reached on an infield single to put runners at first and third.

Becker took two pitches, enough time to allow Hyla to steal second, and then singled to left center field to score both Bamber and Hyla to give Granite City a 9-0 lead.

Having little regard for Kahok catcher Radosovich, Becker obliged by stealing second and then threw to up his season total to 22, Cole picked up his second RBI of the game when he blasted one up the middle to easily score Becker.

The Warriors picked up their 11th and final run of the game when Davis, who was 2-for-3 in the game with three RBI's, lined a shot to left field to score Cole.

Then came the eventual Kahoks' sixth inning.

Zentgraf hit Blyuey with a pitch and then walked Conway to put runners at first and second. Frank Bennett reached on an error to load the bases for Steve Etherton who singled to left field to send in Blyuey and the Kahoks' first run.

Davis mishandled Radosovich's chopper to third which sent another run scampering across the plate to cut the Warriors' lead to 11-2.

Spalding, who had just relieved Zentgraf, was successful in his attempt to get Keith Brooke to ground out, but in doing so the Kahoks managed to send another man home.

Then the nifty left-hander tempted Bob Range with a ball below the knees. The ball bounced twice before Hinterser was able to field it and make a play at first base to end the inning.

In the Kahoks' seventh, Spalding issued a pass to Rob Anderson and then got a full count on Blyuey before he slapped a home run over the left field fence.

With the Warrior lead cut to six, 11-5, Bowen came in to relieve Spalding and struck out Conway with his round-house curve ball. But even the confident Bowen didn't last long.

Mark Luczak swatted a one-out single to left field as did Bennett to put runners at first and third. Etherton flied out to Tim Hogan in center field for the second out but then Joe Lang singled to send in Luczak for the Kahoks' final tally.

Zukas, the fourth Warrior hurler, got two quick strikes on Brooke before getting him to line out to Hyla in right field to end the game.

With the win the Warriors picked up their 20th victory of the season and currently stand at 20-14. Collinsville, now eliminated from post-season play, fell to 11-15.

Should the Warriors upset top-seeded East St. Louis Saturday, they will play in the championship game Memorial Day (Monday) at 1 p.m. All remaining regional games will be played at Fletcher Field.

Warrior girls upend Wood River, 5-2

By GREGG OCHOA
Staff writer

WOOD RIVER — Like an understudy in a theatrical production, the Granite City girls softball team made the most of its opportunities.

The Warriors squeezed every drop of offense they could out of four hits and rode the arm of senior Michelle Morgan the rest of the way. The result was a 5-2 victory over Wood River in the opening round of the Edwardsville Class AA regional Thursday.

Granite City (8-15) was to meet Edwardsville, an 11-0 winner over Jerseyville, in Saturday's semifinals. Earlier, in the season the Tigers beat Granite City 5-3 in nine innings.

The regional championship will be on Tuesday, May 28 at Vandalia Field in Edwardsville. The victory for Granite City marks a two-game sweep over Wood River (9-11) and is the Warriors' fifth victory in their last seven games.

But, this one wasn't easy. Granite City fell behind early, but tied the game 1-1 in the second inning. Michelle Staggs' double over the left fielder's head scored Amy Moss who had reached base on a walk. Moss was on base three times, reaching twice on an error. The junior who transferred from Belleville also was a sparkplug on defense.

Replacing Alicia Melton who moved to right field, Moss handled several chances without any problems.

And, in the fourth she took a certain baserun away from Julie Neece. Then, in the fifth, Moss dove down the line to grab a weak pop-up off the bat of designated hitter Kay Eberhart.

"She's been a catalyst for us," said Warriors Coach Jim Davis. "She has been getting on base a lot and today played superb defense."

All told, Granite City's defense was by far their foundation. It even prevented a run in the second.

With two outs, Melinda Wiess walked, stole second and went to third on a wild pitch. Ashley Hill then walked and continued to run to second.

Warrior catcher Karen Sykes threw to Keri Holtcamp at second base, she in turn fired back to Sykes. The catcher tagged Wiess trying to score.

"Our defense has been strong all year," Davis said. "If we have an advantage that's where it is." Except for the first and seventh innings, Morgan limited the Oilers to just four base runners. And in that span she allowed just one hit, a fifth-inning single Liz Skundrich.

Morgan pitched all seven innings. She issued four walks and had no strikeouts.

"She pitched a lot harder today and with a lot more control than she has in the past," Davis said. "She really took charge in that seventh inning. That showed me a lot. I guess it was just a case of her being a senior and knowing (a loss) could be it," Davis said.

The Oilers got a single run in the seventh. Neece singled, Carol Blaine reached on an error and Wiess' single to right field scored Neece.

However, Morgan retired the first three members of the Wood River batting order to end the game.

"We had to remind her about changing speeds," Davis said. "That's when Michelle is the most effective. She's not going to consistently throw it past you like a (Roanna) Brazier of Civic Memorial."

"Michelle can throw hard, but it makes her that much better when she can change speeds."

Granite City took the lead for good in the fourth. Elainea Reinagel, hitting for Morgan, reached when Wiess threw past first. Moss reached safely on another error which scored pinch-runner Kathy Lewis.

Melton advanced the runners on a sacrifice. A wild pitch scored Moss. Staggs scored on a single by Kathy Hutchings.

The Warriors added an insurance run in the fifth inning. Reinagel beat an infield hit and advanced to second when Kim Warren's throw sailed past first base. Moss reached on an error as Wiess threw the ball away allowing the run to score.

"By making them field the ball we were able to put a little pressure on them," Davis said.

But, the fourth inning could have been an even bigger one for the Warriors. They left the bases loaded after Oiler pitcher Jennifer Brown got Sykes to hit a ball off the end of the bat and right at Neece at first.

It was Deja' Vu in the sixth inning. Walks by Hutchings, Anne Puhse and a fielder's choice Holtcamp (the Oilers tried to get the lead runner at third) loaded the bases.

However, the next three batters hit harmless fly balls and Granite City failed to score a run.

"We were fortunate," Davis said. "Normally a situation like that comes back to haunt you."

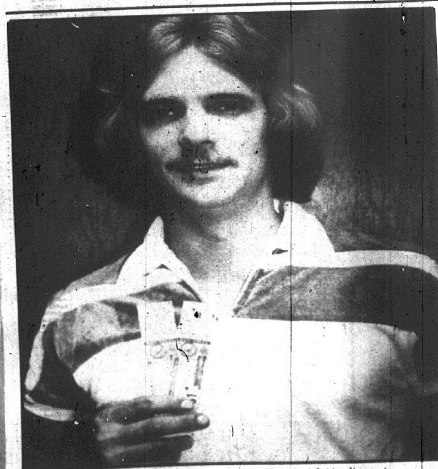

Wood River had taken a 1-0 lead in the first when Skundrich reached in an error and scored on Beth Farrell's single.

Despite the limited offensive attack, Davis was pleased. "We have played a lot better in our last few games. In fact we have played well all season. We just came out of the chute against some fine teams."

Hamburger's The Main, Thoroughbred's The Game Embry fincs 'bluegrass' in the Prairie State

By AL BARNES
Staff writer

GREENVILLE — Here, in the center of this beautiful part of rural Illinois just 45 miles east of St. Louis on state route 7, is located Secret Acres Farm. The farm is owned and operated by Dave and Freda Embry, both formerly from Kentucky.

The Secret Acres horse-racing farm is a truly beautiful 70-acre facility in business primarily for boarding brood-mares and the breaking and prepping of yearlings for sale. For the many hundred of horsemen and women in the metropolitan St. Louis and southwestern Illinois area, it is ideally equipped to meet their needs at an absolutely lowest possible cost.

When viewing Secret Acres Farm for the first time one is hit like a ton of bricks by its resemblance to that haven of American horse-racing, the venerated and beautiful real estate section in and around Lexington, Ky.

It's almost as if a giant had reached down in the very center of the Blue Grass country and plucked up 70 acres of horse-racing heaven and set them down on the outskirts of Greenville. The farm is fast closing in on the venerable Greenville College as the chief item of interest to the general public here in southwestern Illinois.

When Embry, a Kentucky-born and reared man in his early fifties, decided to locate his home in Greenville, the first 47 acres he bought was little more than a tangled, briar-covered and hard-scrabbled bit of land fit only for rabbits to build their dens. Three years ago he bought another 23 acres.

Now, after many thousand hours of back-breaking work, Embry and his staff have performed a near miracle and turned the 70-acres which is Secret Acres Farm into literally a real estate beauty. An ex-jockey, Rodney Boatwright, is his general manager and overall major domo. Boatwright's wife, Pam, is in charge of the brood mares, while Mike Hollingshead is the farm's general manager.

Embry's career is straight out of a bit of Horatio Alger. Forced to drop out of high (Male High) school in Louisville to help out his family financially, the young man went to work for a large bakery which served the region for miles around Louisville.

Embry was soon promoted to a route delivery truck job reaching out many miles from Louisville and ending up at a little town named Ekron, Ky. Here he met and courted his wife, Freda. They now have a son and a daughter.

It was on his delivery route for the Louisville bakery that he got the idea which eventually led to his ownership of 12 McDonald sandwich shops in southwestern Illinois. An owner of a hamburger stand on his Kentucky route had asked him to come up with a plan to furnish him with a tray of 12 or more buns in a unit.

He did and found out that it was an idea useful to most fast-food places. The added income from his idea then permitted him to take advantage of buying up a struggling McDonald store in Belleville. "It was real tough at first," says Embry, "but with the help of my seven original employees I had hired, we stuck it out and soon began to turn a profit."

The Belleville store is the flagship, as it were, of his current 12-store operation, one of which is in Granite City. Perhaps it is significant, six of those original seven workers are still with him and in management positions.

That was 20 years ago and he now has expanded that one store to 12 and has two more in the planning stage.

But, back to the sport of horse racing. Embry will have no part of the often expressed reasons some new-to-the-sport people give for entering the thoroughbred business, to wit, to improve the breed.

He explains: "I finally believe that a person who employs basic good business and management tactics in the breeding and racing of horses can turn a profit." He adds quickly, "A little luck helps, too."

"So, now and I know in the future," he says, "we will make a profit at Secret Acres Farm."

He now pokes fun at himself as he reveals that the first horse that he ever owned, named Fireo, a $2,500 claimer, ran dead last in a field of 12 at the old Cahokia track.

Since he started in 1978, Embry has entered 100-plus horses from the Secret Acres Farm stable in stake and claiming races at midwest tracks, but primarily at Collinsville's Fairmount Park.

He makes no secret of his pride in his biggest winner, a beautiful filly, Pretty Angela. He bought Pretty Angela for $5,000 and then sold her in 1983 for $165,000. But, judging from his picks in last May's Kentucky Derby, he's not the best handicapper in the business. He picked Athene Dr. Carter and Swale in that order. He didn't try to pick them in the '85 run for the roses.

Overall, Embry isn't just a one-sport man: his McDonald stores in Granite City, Collinsville (two), O'Fallon, Edwardsville, Alton, Belleville (three), Wood River, Bethalto, and Greenville regularly sponsor all types of athletic teams for boys and girls. The youngsters have won more trophies than have his horses, by far.

Embry is properly proud of his secret Acres Farm operations: it provides a boarding service for brood mares, 14-by-14 foot stalls, special service for brood mares foaling whereby the birthing process can be closely monitored as it is happening by a centrally located closed circuit television, lay-ups, supplied transportation, the breaking of yearlings, around-the-clock veterinarian services, yearling sales preparations and no overcrowding of pastures or feeding stalls.

Embry credits Howard Linker, the owner of the Louisville bakery who gave Dave his start, with this advice: "If you are going to get involved in thoroughbred racing, you should concentrate on blood lines."

Following this advice immediately, Embry traveled to Lexington where he bought Pretty Angela. "I guess I was lucky on her, but I try to do the same thing on each horse I buy or trade for," says Embry.

"Now," he says, "my fondest dream is to win the Kentucky Derby sometime down the road with a horse which I have brought along the whole way."

If one were a betting man, it would be a good wager for one to pick Freda and Dave Embry to show up in the winner's circle down at storied Churchill Downs to see a wreath of roses draped over the neck of one of their horses after he or she has won the Kentucky Derby on a first Saturday in May. Say in 1986.

THOROUGHLY IN LOVE. Dave Embry, the hamburger czar in Southwestern Illinois stands with Pok-A-Duchess, a three-year-old filly at his thoroughbred farm in Greenville. Embry, who owns 20 McDonald's Restaurants in the area, dreams of standing in the winner's circle of the Kentucky Derby.

Collins inks two

By GREGG OCHOA
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Terry Collins, coach of the Granite City Center basketball team, continues to stockpile quality high school players.

Collins finished last season with just five active players on his roster. He wants to make certain a similar situation doesn't occur in 1985.

The Stars have added some height to its program with the signing of Antonio Little and Mike Hellmer to letters of intent Wednesday.

This brings the number of new recruits signed by Collins to seven.

Little, a 6-foot 6-inch center, prep'd at East St. Louis Assumption High School. During his senior year, he averaged 10 points and 8 rebounds per game.

"I hope I can help the program and maybe get something out of it in return," said the soft-spoken Little. Little played in the shadow of the Pioneers' scoring machine Jimmy Collins. He is viewed as a consistent player.

"I think the strongest part of my game is rebounding," Little said.

Hellmer stands 6-feet, 5-inches tall and, played at Coulterville High School. Hellmer helped guide the Eagles to a 20-6 season last year. He averaged 20 points and 11 rebounds per game his senior season.

During his junior year, Coulterville won its first regional chamionship under then-head coach Rodney Watson. Watson is now the head coach at Madison High School.

"This program is similar to Coulterville's," Hellmer said. "Both are on the way up."

He said one of the main reasons he selected GCC was the opportunity to have more playing time.

"I like playing for the underdog," Hellmer added. "You get more pleasure out of winning. When you're not expected, it's more satisfying."

Both Little and Hellmer are optimistic about the upcoming season. The Stars have signed several top area high school players who could have an immediate impact on the men's basketball program.

Among the Illinois cagers signed are Granite City's Jeff Gray and Jeff Pieper of Waterloo Gibault.

"I'm looking forward to getting to know these guys," said Little. Collins feels both players will be an asset this season. "Both are quality kids and ones I think the community will be proud of."

"Mike was very consistent offensively in high school. We need a guy who can score both from the inside and outside," Collins said.

"Tony is a good rebounder and shot blocker," Collins said. "That's where he will contribute the most. He also has the potential to develop into a real inside threat."

NEW RECRUIT. Mike Hellmer of Coulterville High School (left) is the newest recruit of the Granite City Center basketball team. Standing next to Hellmer is Terry Collins, the Stars coach. GCC also inked Antonio Little of East St. Louis Assumption High School, bringing the number of new signees to seven.

Stevanus signs with Rogers State

CLAREMORE, Okla. — Donald Stevanus, Granite City High School's 6-foot 9-inch senior center for the Warriors' basketball team soon to graduate, has signed to play basketball at Rogers State College beginning next season.

Stevanus, the Warriors' pivot man, is projected into the Thunderbirds' starting lineup for its 1985-86 season, after a fine high school career. He paced the Warriors to a 19-6 season record and the championship of the Edwardsville Regional before finally losing in the Illinois State Tournament series to Alton.

The height Stevanus saved his best performances for archrival Col-insville, scoring 18, 17 and 16 points in the three meetings with the Kahoks, for which he was named on the Press-Record Athlete of the Month team.

Thunderbird coach George Hill expressed great pleasure at adding Stevanus to his 1985-86 roster.

"With the heaviest graduation losses we've ever experienced, it really means we have to bring in players of Don's ability who can help us right away," Hill said.

"He's a big man who can shoot the ball, as his 53 percent from the field indicates, and his best basketball is ahead of him. He's just starting to develop."

France imports energy

With a per capita gross domestic product close to that of the United States, and despite significant gains in reducing its energy dependence, France still imports 65 percent of its energy requirements.

FDR gave 30 'chats'

President Franklin D. Roosevelt gave the first of his evening "fireside chats" on radio to the American people March 12, 1933, after he had been in office only eight days. During his 12 years as president he delivered 30 of the chats.

Germans executed nurse

English nurse Edith Cavell was executed by a German firing squad Oct. 12, 1915, after admitting she had helped 200 British, Belgian and French patriots escape occupied Belgium.

RETURN WITH US TO...

THE CHASE

IN 1952, AS MOST MAJOR RADIO PROGRAMS WERE FADING FROM THE AIRWAVES, NBC LAUNCHED A COMPELLING SUSPENSE SERIES THAT TOLD STORIES OF PEOPLE CAUGHT IN TRAPS AND PEOPLE ON THE RUN. THE PRODUCTION WAS SUPERB, BUT AUDIENCES WERE SWITCHING TO TELEVISION AND THE CHASE ENDED AFTER ONE SEASON.

FOLLOWING THE OPENING SOUND EFFECTS OF WALKING FOOTSTEPS, THEN FRANTIC RUNNING AND PANTING, WE HEARD...

THERE IS ALWAYS THE HUNTER AND THE HUNTED. THE ANSWER, AND THE PURSUIT, IS TO BE THE VOICE OF AUTHORITY. BUT RACE WITH DEATH AND DESTRUCTION. MOST RELENTLESS OF THE HUNTERS. THERE ARE TIMES WHEN LAUGHTER IS HEARD AS COUNTERPOINT AND MOMENTS WHEN SNEER TERROR IS THE TONE. (MORE SOUND EFFECTS - GUNSHOTS, FEET DRAGGING, A FALLING BODY) BUT ALWAYS THERE IS THE CHASE!

THE CHASE WAS CREATED BY THE EXPERIENCE OF LEE WHO HAD EARLIER WRITTEN SCRIPTS FOR SUCH SHOWS AS 4TH FLOOR, FRANKIE OF LOST PERSONS.

PEACHES

1. I SEE YOU'VE CHEWED UP A LOOSE CARPET THREAD!

2. NOW, WHAT COULD YOU POSSIBLY DO WITH THAT?

3. WOOSH WOOSH

4. HERB, YOU'VE ELEVATED TEETHING TO A TRUE ART FORM!
